

Commentary on the Gospel for Wed, Jan 5th 2011

MK 6: 45-52

The disciples were unable to value the providential care of Jesus for them. Because of this inability they were seeking remedies from outside rather than finding what they were seeking in Jesus himself. Personal experience with Jesus alone will increase our trust in his providential accompaniment. If we don't recognize the love of Jesus in our personal lives, all our effort to seek him outside will be in vain.
