

Commentary on the Gospel for Fri, Feb 4th 2011

Herod is the prototype of those against the Word and its prophets. On the surface he is strong and powerful, but in reality he is very weak, capricious and easily influenced. His weak personality makes him incapable of making decisions. He always ends up killing the voice of the prophet who speaks of God.

The Forge