

Commentary on the Gospel for Sat, Apr 16th 2011

Through Baptism we have become the new Chosen people, freed by Jesus Christ. He is our shepherd, a good shepherd. His paths are difficult sometimes, but always appropriate. Our sins “hurt” him. He came to this world because we are not perfect but sinners. He gathers us in the community of the redeemed. So we can not remain indifferent to the fate of our neighbours. In Him, we are all brothers and sisters. He died and rose for our salvation.
