Commentary on the Gospel for Wed, Jan 9th 2019

In the midst of a raging wind that tossed about the disciples, Jesus greets them with his reassuring presence: "Take courage, it is I, do not be afraid!".

In life we may have the opportunity to witness the multiplication of loaves and fish as well as experience the violent wind. Be it a moment of wow or a moment of freezing fear, we must never forget that born for us is Emmanuel – God with us; he accompanies us through life; 'For in him we live and move and have our being.' (Acts 17:28).
