

Commentary on the Gospel for Tue, Oct 15th 2019

We are exposed daily to injustice and ambition. It's for this that we must be attentive to hidden intentions that our society promotes in its lifestyle choices; selfishness can only build greater world inequality. The gospel of Luke shows how Jesus condemned the origin of evil that is inside people and that goes out through our hearts and actions. If we bring justice and charity into our hearts, everybody will get a possibility of a better world; Now Jesus asks us what things we can do to build a better future?
