

Commentary on the Gospel for Fri, Dec 16th 2011

We are usually judged by the works we do. And oftentimes they are the true testament of our person. The quality of our work leaves a lasting impression. But for Jesus, the glory of his works does not end with him but points to the ultimate source: his Father. Let our lives be a true reflection of the greatness of our maker

BD