

Commentary on the Gospel for Fri, Jan 13th 2012

We are not told the name of the paralyzed man, but we didn't even expect to be told the names of the people who brought him to Jesus; they are just referred to as "some people." But where would the world be without such people? They are the anonymous apostles of Jesus, doing good quietly, patiently and unselfishly, with no fanfare. Thanks for all the people who bring me to Jesus (without saying so).

BD