

Commentary on the Gospel for Sat, Mar 3rd 2012

We are the new people of God so we need to live as his children. The ten commandments are a guide for us to achieve this and help us love God and each other. Jesus tells us to love even our enemies(easier said than done). It is easy to love those we get on with but to love our enemies is very difficult. Yet we are all members of God's family and so we should show that love.
