

Commentary on the Gospel for Wed, Mar 7th 2012

Jesus prediction of the cross and resurrection didn't impress the crowd but he didn't give up on them. James and John were looking for important positions in the Kingdom. The other apostles didn't like this, not because they were humble, but because they did not ask first. We need to follow the example of Jesus at the Last Supper and be servants to others, even though this may include suffering. What cross do I have to carry to help me share in the Resurrection?
