

Commentary on the Gospel for Tue, Mar 20th 2012

In Ezekiel we have the vision of the river which makes the land fruitful and starts from the place where God is present. The Holy Spirit imaged in the stream of living water makes all the seeds of life blossom again in the world.

Jesus cures the paralytic and gives life to people every day. The cured man is told not to sin again and we are exhorted to do the same and live our baptismal commitment. Are we doing this?
