

Commentary on the Gospel for Tue, Jul 17th 2012

Men and women with a truly “less burdened heart”, a free soul and authentic spirit are more open to believe, to see how God sees. They are able to see God’s prints in their lives. They are able to celebrate those great times of triumph and moments of simple joys, but also able to redeem, heal and re-signify those challenging ones. They are able to see and appreciate the unfolding of “miracles” in every moment that allows them build a firmer faith. Truly we are replete with salvific signs. But oftentimes we are distracted. Oftentimes our hearts are too burdened.
