

Commentary on the Gospel for Thu, Oct 4th 2012

We live in a world where anyone doing anything different from others is considered crazy. The words of Jesus tells us ‘courage, I am sending you like lambs among wolfs’. The values of the world may contradict that of the Kingdom but do not loos heart or compromise. Job had lost everything, in his own words “I have become skin and bones and have escaped with only my gums”. Yet in all these he says “I know that my redeemer lives”. So let us be courageous, hold on to Jesus with hope and final victory is ours.

Fr. George Vayaliparampil, cmf