

Commentary on the Gospel for Fri, Aug 3rd 2012

In our homes especially (like Nazareth), we have the subtle power of preventing miracles. We do not believe enough in one another, for a start. Or rather we believe a lot of negative small-minded things; we remember every mistake the others ever made; in knowing one another too well we may not know one another at all. And then we do not believe enough in Christ's liberating power.
