

Commentary on the Gospel for Wed, Nov 7th 2012

Following Jesus is not simply a personal and individual endeavor because to be Christian is to be part of a Christian community. And the first Christian community is our own families. We do not go to heaven alone but with the whole humanity that Jesus redeemed, specially the people we love. As we approach Jesus, we bring with us our families and those near to us—this is how we give the Lord the primacy in our life and follow him without compromise.
