

Commentary on the Gospel for Mon, Nov 12th 2012

Today Jesus presents us three teachings: the seriousness of causing others to sin, the call to forgive and the need for faith. They may seem to be unrelated, but they actually are. In the face of the many scandals in the Church, sadly by those tasked to be shepherds, Jesus still calls us to be able to forgive. And forgiveness in the face of seemingly unforgivable offenses is only possible when we have faith.
