

Commentary on the Gospel for Tue, Nov 27th 2012

When will the end come? We worry because we hear of many calamities, earthquakes, super typhoons, floods, of wars and famine, of many terrible disasters. Could these things not have been happening even in the past? But we only come to know a lot about them now because of the rapid flow of information made possible by our present information technology? Put your heart at rest, and trust in the loving care of God.
