

Commentary on the Gospel for Wed, Dec 5th 2012

Every time I go for my checkup with the cardiologist, I prepare myself to wait for hours since there is always a long queue in his clinic everyday. He sees more than a hundred patients daily. Besides charging them a consultation fee that is socialized, he also prescribes good generic medicines, which are more economical and affordable. Added to this, he serves pizza and drinks to those who remain waiting in line, both patients and companions alike, when supper time comes.

Sid Ching, cmf