Opening Prayer

Lord, our God,
we hold you to your promise to those who have left everything for the sake of your kingdom and who are willing to follow your Son wherever he leads them.
Let them be men and women,
poor in the things that count on this earth,
but rich with your love and your grace and with a wealth of friends to whom they can bring

Introduction to the First Reading

As God is the Lord of all the earth, so his prophet has the power to prophesy over the nations. Their pride, their wealth, their human wisdom are subject to God and his laws. For God is the Lord of history of all humankind.

Introduction to Gospel Reading

In today's Gospel Peter asks, "What about us, Lord?" and Jesus answers that it is difficult for those who are attached to things to enter the kingdom of heaven. We want to follow him. Have we given up everything for his sake? Where do we stand? What is our situation? Jesus promises eternal life. The poor shall be rich. Those who follow Jesus throughout, even losing their life, will live with God.

General Intercessions

- That the Lord may open our eyes to make us put our hearts in the things that matter: love and service and generous sharing, we pray:
- That parents and educators may challenge the young to live for evangelical values, we pray:
- That we may welcome God's grace when it is offered to us and respond readily, also when it makes demands on us, we pray:

Prayer over the Gifts

God our Father,
with bread and wine, we remember him
who gave himself totally for others,
your Son, Jesus Christ.
Everything was taken away from him
except the certainty that he could count on you.
Make us more aware of the poverty and emptiness of our hearts and of the passing value of the things to which we attach ourselves.
Convert our hearts and set them on the riches and persons that never devalue:
you and our neighbor,
justice, truth, and generous love.

We ask this in the name of Jesus, the Lord.

Prayer after Communion

Lord our God,

we are easily satisfied with ourselves
and our own little worlds.
Wake us up and give us the courage to set out with your Son on his adventure of hope and love.
Make us ask ourselves,
not what we have done for you,
but what we have not done and not yet given.
By the strength of this Eucharist help us to follow your Son generously.

Grant this through Christ, our Lord.

Blessing

"What about us?" We know that the Lord knows us and loves us and that we are in his hands. No worry! May Almighty God bless you, the Father, and the Son, and the Holy Spirit.
