Liturgy Alive of ST. CECILIA, Virgin and Martyr and to sing your praises for ever.

	ST. CECILIA, Virgin and Martyr
	Memorial
	November 22
ntroduction
ntroduction
We know little	emore about this popular Roman saint than that she was the daughter of a rich pagan family. She had become a Christian. Her family tried in vain to marry her off to a young pagan. She said that "Christ was her bridegroom," according to the legend. And also, the rest is legend, that she sang to God at the day of because the said of the said marriage to Christ. That made her the patroness of musicians.
Opening Pray
ord our God,	the celebration of St. Cecilia reminds us that you want us to encounter your Son as our companion in life and in death. Keep us always awake and responsive to his love which he offers us his leschusist, in his foreiveness, in the vents of life. in the brothers and sisters he entrusts to us. Let him be our peace in our tensions, our joy even when we suffer, Let him admit us to your lasting feast of joy, for he is our Lord for ever.
Prayer over t	he Gifts
.ord our God,
	we, your people on the march, bring before you this bread and this wine as an offering and a prayer that Jesus may go with us our weary way and sustain us in faith and hope. Let him fill each of our days Let min in each to do usys with deeds of goodness and wisdom, May this meal of the Eucharist prepare us to share in your feast that lasts for ever.
Prayer after (Communion
God of our ho	pe and joy.
	we are sure that we have encountered your Son Jesus in this Eucharistic celebration. We have recognized his voice; he has nourished us with the bread of himself. Let Jesus himself be the lamp that shines brightly on our life